Jesus' parable of the sower leads to the understanding that mankind is composed of body, soul, spirit, and heart. The description of the Mosaic Tabernacle gives presentation of the Tabernacle as the pre-incarnate Jesus Christ -- God dwelling among the Hebrews in the desert wilderness. This little booklet presents Jesus Christ as the omnipotent ruler of four realms, that of all creation, that of all imaginations, that of all spirits, and that of all the inner essence of mankind, in the bible called hearts. Text proof from the Bible is given. Jesus Christ is presented as the perfect man who is God. Borrowing a concept from mathematical physics, Jesus Christ is the whole eigenfunction of everything which connects mankind to God. Jesus thus becomes the Tabernacle/Temple for worship. The author who deeply loves Jesus, has a Christian heritage perspective of that of being Reformed, and fellowships at Bible Churches.
