Indonesia is the largest island nation in the world, encompassing 17,000+ islands (Wouldn't you like to know who counted them?), each with its own unique culture. Indonesia has rain forests, at least 150 active volcanoes, tropical beaches, Orangutans, famous resort areas, home to mankind's last remaining frontiers, and a haven for underwater enthusiasts. Why Visit Sulawesi? Divers don't have to be told to visit either Sulawesi or Indonesia, home to some of the World's best diving; with some of the highest levels of biodiversity in the world! Bunaken National Marine Park in North Sulawesi has 7 of the 8 species of giant clams - 70 genera of corals (Hawaii only has 10) - and may even have more fish species than the Philippines. The main focus of those, in-the-know, is to visit the ethnic Toraja people in the mountainous region of South Sulawesi; attend elaborate funeral rites that usually last several days; see burial sites carved into rocky cliffs where effigies of the dead keep watch; and unusual houses called, tongkonan. Tongkonan are large, peaked-roof traditional houses (similar to some seen in other parts of the world).
