Mute Magazine - Vol 2 #10

The state is pouring billions into propping up the collapsing financial sector, but who is going to take care of the rest of us? Between Hollywood's embattled superbats and the gruesome charisma contests of political party leaders, we can be sure of one thing – we don't need another hero! Mute surveys some popular myths of political-economic salvation (and damnation), and looks for signs of collective agency in the global Gotham Liverpool – Culture of Capital: Leo Singer & Clara Paillard crash Liverpool's regeneration party Descrambling the Food Crisis: George Caffentzis puts the class politics of hunger back on the table From Subprime to Slump?: Jon Amsden argues that the capitalist doom doctors have got things the wrong way round Mr Smith Goes to Beijing: Daniel Berchenko on Giovanni Arrighi's retrogressive vision of China as the future of capitalism Mexican Wave: Mihalis Mentinis on a new cycle of armed anti-capitalist struggle in Mexico Any Other But Our Selves: J.J. Charlesworth on Other-worship in the art gallery and the denigration of human agency Orientalism Inverted: the Rise of 'Hindu Nation': Neil Gray on Indianness as German ideology, from colonial mystique to neoliberal pogroms One World, One Lie: Paula Cerni finds a thoroughly modern lack of democracy in Tibet Quarterly, critical and cheap, Mute is a concrete jumble of all that's still grunting in the inter-finessing hyper-barrios of culture, politics and technology 2.0. As capitalism yawns towards apocalypse we match it issue by issue with a sustained critique of everything existing, from eco prole-bashing and shanty chic to academic aut-onanist marxistry

William Harris:

As a student exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's heart or real their interest. They just do what the educator want, like asked to go to the library. They go to there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring in addition to can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Mute Magazine - Vol 2 #10 can make you feel more interested to read.
